As we can see from the picture, it is mainly in the color of black and white, and two women are sitting in front of a store, which is full of different framed paintings. On the right side of the picture, the two elderly women talk with each other, and they are dressing casually; one of them is talking with her body leaning forward, while the other is listening patiently. The rest of the picture is about the store, and it may be a small gallery that sells framed paintings, including portraits and landscape paintings. This reminds me of my own experience of visiting a small gallery with my family, which is full of different kinds of interesting paintings that drew about realistic landscapes or modern buildings, and it also has abstract paintings that are difficult to grasp the idea. We spent a lot of time in that store and paid our attention to see every detail of the paintings, and more importantly, we bought our favorite painting at last! In conclusion, this picture is really interesting and helps me get a better understanding of my paintings and reminds me of a lovely memory.

This picture gives information about two girls and a crocodile toy. As we can see from the picture, two girls are laughing in the picture. Their mouths are open, and they look pretty happy. The girl on the left of the picture has long curl yellow hair and white skin. She is wearing a silver necklace and a blue and black shirt. She is about twenty years old, and she has a red face. She is imitating the dinosaur with her mouth open. She looks thrilled and energetic. The girl on the right side of the picture is laughing as well. As we can see from the picture, she is holding a crocodile toy on her left hand and wearing a purple sweater. She is pretty young and excited. I guess she is around 20 years old. The crocodile toy is green, and it is a famous toy called crocodile dentists. The classic Crocodile Dentist Game is super fun and easy-to-learn game. Play a solo round of crocodile dentist or gather with up to four friends for a fun game. With no assembly required, this game is quick and easy to set up, so your little ones can get right to playing. This portable game is easy to bring along on road trips or visits to friends or grandparents.

As we can see from the picture, there is an African woman around thirty years old. She is wearing a green turban, and it is quite stylish. Wearing turbans is common among Sikhs, including women. The headgear also serves as a religious observance, including among Shia Muslims. The turban is the traditional headdress of Sufi scholars. Additionally, turbans have often been worn by nobility, regardless of religious background. They are also sometimes donned to protect hair or as a headwrap for women following cancer treatments. She is wearing a leopard-print suit. As we can see from the picture, she is focusing on making a handiwork. She holds a yellow pen in her right hand and a green pen in her left hand. There is a weaving machine in front of her, and probably she is weaving the turban. She looks experienced, and She might do this as a living for more than ten years. This is the fun part of weaving, and with all the beauty and creativity, she can make beautiful cloth and turban.

As we can see from the picture, it is mainly about a tunnel that has doodles on the wall, which are in red, white, and yellow. On the right side of the picture, there are many green trees planted near the rail tracks, from which we can assume that these rail tracks may not have been used for a long time. The rest of the picture is about the tunnel, which leads to a small footpath that leads to the woods. This reminds me of my own experience that doodles can be very annoying when I am walking in the underground pedestrian walkway, as they are all in poor handwrites which mainly just some meaningless symbols and letters in different colors, and these doodles can have negative impacts on the appearance of a city. In conclusion, this picture is fascinating and helps me to get a better understanding of doodles.

What can be seen from the picture is a traffic accident. Two cars hit each other on the street. The good news is that this is a slight accident and nobody gets hurt in the accident. The lady in the white coat seems pretty worried about her car. The man in a suit is looking for someone to help. We can learn from the picture that road safety is essential. Road safety is something important that has to be followed at all times to ensure the safety of the operators of a vehicle, passengers, and pedestrians. In fact, road traffic injuries are the leading cause of death among people between 15 and 29. Traffic rules and guidelines have to be set in place and strictly followed so that serious accidents and injuries can be averted.

This picture is taken in a hospital. There are a female patient and a male doctor in the picture. They both look very serious. The male doctor is trying to figure out the illness of the patient. He is wearing a blue uniform. The female patient is sitting on a hospital bed and showing her hand to the doctor. She is wearing a white dress. Doctors save lives, but their importance goes far beyond that. Doctors also make a difference by helping patients minimize pain, recover from a disease faster or learn to live with a disabling injury.

We can see a graffiti on the wall. The main character is a monster who has an elephant's face and octopus's feet. This picture is very creative yet scary. If such animals exist, they must be very dangerous for humans. But I don't feel that graffiti should be considered a form of vandalism, but as a type of street art that others can appreciate, even if it's illegal. Graffiti provides a way for people to express themselves openly. It helps people make a statement about what they believe in. This is one of the primary purposes of art.

What I can see from the picture is that there is a little boy lying on a row of fences. Those fences are primarily used on construction sites to prevent pedestrians from walking into sites which involve potential dangers. I can tell that because those fences are painted in black and yellow to make them easily noticeable. However, those fences are not in use at the moment as they have been placed in order in the street. I suppose the little boy is having a tough life because he has no proper bed to sleep on, and is possibly homeless, given that it is daytime, but he is lying alone on top of the fences which is not supposed to accommodate people. He looks quite helpless. I feel deep empathy for him, and I really hope that his life can get better.

I had this experience once, and usually, the day will begin with an introduction to gun safety and clay target shooting tips. Next, you will head out to the layout, where you will receive individual coaching to hone your skills further. Shooting is fun and exciting and provides a great insight into the skills and techniques involved across shooting disciplines and experiences.

This picture gives information about a man who is logging. As we can see from the picture, the man in the middle of the picture is wearing a checked shirt and yellow t-shirt. He is wearing gloves and jeans. He is about forty years old and he is looking at the camera. He has grey hair and a lot of wrinkles due to the heavy logging work. Another guy wearing a blue hat is cutting trees with tools. They are typical logging workers, who cuts down, processes and transports mature trees for logging purposes. They harvest thousands of acres of forests each year. The timber they harvest provides raw material for countless consumer and industrial products. Logging is physically demanding and can be hazardous. Workers spend all their time outdoors, sometimes in poor weather and often in isolated areas. The increased use of enclosed machines has decreased some of the discomforts caused by bad weather and has generally made logging much safer. The practice of logging ranges from large-scale commercial timber plantations to individuals harvesting fuelwood. While logging is important to regional economies and rural communities, if not managed properly, it can contribute to deforestation and forest degradation. (

The mobile phone he is using is black and white, and it is quite small comparing with the size of his palm, and by the look of the phone, I can tell that it is an old-fashioned phone, which indicates that either the picture was taken decades ago, or the man is not that rich to afford a better device. The man has dark skin, short hair and bushy beard. He wears a white top. His mouth is not open, so he must be listening to the person speaking on the other end of the phone. He is knitting his brows as if the news he is hearing is rather serious or terrible, and he is raising his other hand up in the air, doing some sort of gesture.

We can see a young man is skydiving with his coach. He looks a little nervous, but the coach seems excited because he is very experienced. The man is wearing a white helmet with his eyes closed tightly because of fear. The view is beautiful, and it is a pity that he missed such a beautiful scenery. The fear of the unknown is the main thing that makes people feel nervous when skydiving for the first time. It's an experience, unlike any other, and you simply don't know what to expect if you haven't done it before. Some people like skydiving to being on a roller coaster. Some say it's similar to bungee jumping in the first moments. But the truth is, it's different from both of these things. It's hard to describe the sensation of looking out of the door when you're just about to jump, or freefalling through the air. The day of your first skydive will be full of new experiences. From the moment you arrive at the airfield, you'll be in a new environment with lots happening around you that you're not used to. (

What I can see from the picture is that there are a number of people in the square, including children and adults. The vision is blurred by a giant bubble in the foreground. This bubble is reflecting different colours, which are the 7 colours of the rainbow. The principles behind this view is to do with the broad spectrum of the light, which I happened to have learnt in my physics class back in high school. No doubt, it is amazingly beautiful. This kind of bubble is probably generated by blowing off the soap-water mixture from a circular shape of toy. I remember playing one of those toys when I was young. It really was interesting. In the background, I can see an adult man who wears a cap, a long-sleeve shirt and a pair of bright colour pants. What I can see from the picture is that there are two children combating with each other. I guess he wants to win desperately, and he will spare no effort to defeat the other kid. In the background, there are a group of people watching the fight, and most of them are adults, which makes sense as there is supposed to be adults in place to supervise the entire process in case any incidence happens. Adults are meant to keep a close eye on the young competitors, should they get injured or the situation gets out of control during the competition. Some of the adults are clapping their hands as if the kids have made a nice move. They are having the event outdoors, and it is probably in an Asian country as can be told by their race. The village they are at does not look like well-developed.

Also, on the top of the desserts is scattered with many black stuff, which I cannot tell exactly what it is. I guess it's probably chocolate chip. It seems that they are playing some kind of game that requires them to eat up the dessert without using their hands. Therefore, all of them have put their hands away from the table in order not to break the rule. Now they can only eat the desserts with their mouths, either by licking or biting. What can be seen from this picture is a boy with short blond hair wearing a pair of colorful toy glasses and a stethoscope. He is holding scissors and trying to cut something on a red plastic chair. We can safely conclude that he is playing a role play game and pretending he is doing surgery. Imaginative play or role-play games are essential for the development of children. When a child engages in pretend or imaginative play, by pretending to be different characters or by controlling objects in their own way and observing the result, they are essentially experimenting with the social and emotional roles of life. It's about learning who they are as individuals and how they fit into the world around them, how the world works, and how to walk in somebody else's shoes. They develop empathy and learn how to co-operate, to become responsible, and how to share responsibility.

In the picture, we can see that a woman is putting a band-aid on her foot. She seems to be wearing a pair of uncomfortable shoes. She is fashionably dressed in grey trousers and a blacktop. Near her feet, this is a khaki handbag. From this picture, we can see that wearing proper shoes is very important. It can help you to feel your best and help prevent injuries. Shoe choice can affect your whole body, not just your feet. If your shoes are too tight, too loose, or insufficiently supportive, your physical activity may place stress on your feet, ankles, lower legs, and other joints. This ongoing pressure may contribute to pain and injuries. Women are more vulnerable to certain foot problems than men, mainly from years of walking in narrow-fitting shoes that squeeze the toes and from high-heels that cramp the forefoot and pose risks for arch and ankle problems.

This picture depicts a race of bullfighting, and we can see thousands of audience are watching it. Bullfighting is a type of race which is practised in Spain (where it originates), it is a physical contest that involves humans and animals attempting to publicly subdue, immobilize, or kill a bull, usually according to a set of rules, guidelines, or cultural expectations. There are many different forms and varieties in various locations around the world. Some forms involve dancing around or over a cow or bull or attempting to grasp an object from the animal. The practice of bullfighting is controversial because of a range of concerns, including animal welfare, funding, and religion. Bullfighting is illegal in most countries but remains legal in most areas of Spain. Some people hold the view that bullfighting is exciting. While there are certainly valid viewpoints, on the contrary, I personally believe that it is very cruel to animals and should be forbidden world widely.

What can be seen from this picture is an old man who wears a black coat and a knitted hat is standing in a community park. There is a spading fork in his right hand, while his right hand is holding a cleaning cart. He looks confident and seems extremely satisfied with his work. This reminds me of a heated debate about whether organizations should hire older workers. As far as I am concerned, older workers are not a homogeneous group; each is a unique individual with strengths and weaknesses. Older workers can have a positive impact on the workplace and work outcomes when their background and skills are matched to the task at hand. There are demonstrable financial and personal health benefits, particularly mental health benefits, which potentially lead to reduced public health costs. And the positive impact of workforce reliability and stability of older workers on the "business bottom line" should not be underestimated. More needs to be done to improve workforce participation of older workers.

As we can see from the picture, a middle-aged man who wears a green T-shirt and grey trousers is sitting on the floor and holding a chopstick and a wooden shovel in his hands. In front of him, there are two pots and one wok placed upside down on the ground. It seems that he is trying to use the chopstick and the shovel to knock on the pots to make some sound, just like beating a drum. In addition, we can tell from his facial expression that he is very concentrate on this, which may indicate that he is very fond of the novelty music and maybe he is a musician who is trying to find some new ideas for his music. At the background, we can see some cabinets and a dishwasher, so we can assume that the man is sitting in his kitchen and trying to have a "kitchen concert".

We can see from the picture that there are two adults and two kids. One of the kids is a little girl wearing an orange sweater, and she is driving a blue toy car. She looks excited to drive the car and it seems that she is trying to drive it well. However, the car she drives is not in good condition that one of the wheels seems broken and there are no headlights. But the little girl is still enjoying herself. Behind her, a man wearing a black jacket and jeans is bending down following the little girl, and it seems that he is trying to protect her while she is driving. Next to him, another girl wearing a pink sweater seems quite dirty, and she has black skin and a unique hairstyle. Behind them, another adult wearing a black shirt is following these two little girls. At the background, we can see a building where may be their home. From this picture, we can assume that they may not be very rich, but still enjoy their father-daughter time.

What I can see from the picture is that an adult woman is pushing a flat cart and walking in the street. It looks like the woman is in her fifties, and she is wearing a white coat and carrying a belt bag. She has dark skin probably because she has been exposed to sunshine a lot. The cart is made of metal, and has 2 large wheels, one on each side. On the cart, there are boxes of eggs, some are brown while the others are white. Apparently, the woman is going to sell those eggs in the market. At the background, there are a couple of other people walking in the street, and heaps of stands on both sides of the pathway. They are most likely in a free market where vendors sell their goods. The woman is probably one of those vendors.

What I can see from the picture is that there is an adult man using a rake to clean up the street. The picture only gives me a view of his back, and the man is wearing a grey short-sleeved shirt and a pair of black pants. He is also wearing a pair of rubber gloves to protect his hands from heavy work. There is a large amount of debris on the ground. It certainly is going to take the man a fair amount of time to finish cleaning. A black car is parked beside him. There are also a number of other people in the street, among which two are walking towards the man.

This picture shows a bird-eye-view of a fish stand and a vendor. Looking down from above, I can't really tell the sex of the vendor, but he or she is kind of overweight. The vendor is wearing a grey top, and an apron to prevent him or her from getting wet or dirty while handling the fish. In front of the vendor, there are several boxes of fish of different kinds. Some are small while the others are medium-sized. None of the fish is still alive as they are all laid flatly in the boxes rather than being kept in water. The vendor is probably selling the fish in a free market.

This is a picture taken for a little girl who is standing in front of the lush plants with yellow flowers. This little girl is wearing white dresses with colorful dots. For the backgrounds, there are tall trees with bare branches, which forms obvious contrast to the green plants and the grass. There is also a lane for pedestrian where people wearing dark and heavy cloth are walking. Behind the trees, the buildings are partly hidden and partly visible. Some protection board are placed between the building and the park to separate them. The day when taking the picture is a sunny day as I can tell from the clear blue sky and floating clouds. This reminds me of one of my pictures taken by my father when we travelled to Beijing for the first time. It was also the first time for me to see the snow, so I was laughing and playing the snow in the park.

On the lawn, there are a group of people sitting on their knees, playing a game together. They are balancing a long, thin pole using only their index fingers. They are all adults and are wearing short-sleeved or sleeveless tops and shorts, so I suppose it is in summer. From the facial expression of some of them, I can tell the game is great fun. It requires precise collaboration of each team member. At the background, another adult is wearing a pair of sunglasses and a white cap, standing and watching the game. Besides, the event is held in the woods, and thus everyone can enjoy the game in the shade without having to worry about the harmful effect associated with too much exposure to direct sunlight.

As we can see from the picture, there are two girls in the classroom. The girl on the left wears a blue sweater and holds a paper facing the camera. There are a word "DREAMS" in capital letter and some shapes on that paper. Meanwhile, on the right side at the bottom of the paper, there are two girls and one boy drawn in red. The other girl on this picture is wearing a white hoodie and keeps the same hair style as the girl wearing blue. But she leans her body on the other girl and turns her back towards the camera so I cannot see her face clearly. As for the background, I can see there are whiteboards and desks with books. These two lovely girls remind me of my time studying in university, where I can share opinions and plan the futures with my friends. In conclusion, this is a very meaningful picture of two girls smiling in the classroom.

As we can see from the picture, three men are playing around one yacht by the sea. As for the background, there are clouds in the blue sky and mountains covered with lush green vegetation. It is a sunny day. The water is so clean as the crystal and appears in different colors. In the center of the picture, there is a white yacht, with a man sitting on it. And another man in a striped T-shirt is standing next to a yacht and wearing his diving goggles. Also, we can find the man standing in front of the yacht also wears diving goggles and holds two big blue flippers. It seems that he just went back from swimming in the sea. It is clear that all these three boys enjoy their time there a lot. This reminds me of the pleasant time spent with my friends in a coastal city after our graduation. In conclusion, this is a picture that reflects the cozy atmosphere.

We can easily find from the picture that it is a sign of a church. On the top of the sign, there is the name of the church "RIVER FALLS BAPTIST CHURCH" in capital letters on a brown board with white edges. There is also one sentence following at the bottom part, "what is missing from ch ch" with the character "U" and "R" missing from the words "church". It welcomes more people to the church by actually expressing "you are missing from the church." This is a very interesting sign compared to other normal signs on the street. Nowadays, a sign with a unique character is more impressive than others full of information. This picture reminds me of another sign of a church that attracted me before. That is a simple white and black sign but the sentence on it is meaningful, which is "Feed your faith and your fears will starve to death."

This is a picture taken for people who are sitting in the metal jumping machine. From this angle, we can see that four people are sitting beside each side and wearing heavy protection. Some of them are lifting their legs to vertical to their body, indicating they are nervous at that time, while other players seem not nervous with legs naturally down. Also, I can see clearly that one girl has already begun screaming. This picture reminds me of my first experience riding the roller coaster with my friends. I was frightened but also excited, and my friends were holding my hands firmly so that I can get the courage from them. After that experience, I realized that if we can muster the courage to attempt, we would complete the task that we thought impossible before.

A boy is wearing a black T-shirt and a girl is wearing a red blouse watching a tablet computer together. The girl is holding a glass of beer. The content they are watching interests them since both of them are smiling happily. It seems that they are in a room where there are green plants and a bookshelf full of books on it. This reminds me of my university time when I always held small parties with my friends. At that time, we always had energy and passion making new acquaintances regardless of their major, gender or backgrounds. We shared our opinions on diverse topics such as subjects, extra-curriculum activities and books, and discussing dreams and futures. The room we were living is small, but our dreams are great.

A girl is experimenting in the room. She is holding a glass kettle which contains liquid and pouring liquid into an empty large bottle through a funnel. This girl is so focused on the process as she is stirring at the funnel and trying to pour the liquid as steadily as she can. From the picture, I can see she also put several newspapers on the ground and press them with a stand, in case the liquid would splash out. There are also other tools placed around her. This picture has reminded me of the first chemistry experiments I did in high school. At that time, we need to pour the acid to a test tube. Since the acid is corrosive, we were all wearing gloves and goggles. The experiments are always so interesting since we can explore the whole process, check the results and learn the principles by ourselves.

What I can see from the picture is that there is an adult man down at the bottom of a quite deep well. The wall of the well is probably made of concrete which can be identified by its appearance. The man is wearing a white and yellow top and has short hair. Despite being at the bottom of the well, he does not look frustrated but looks rather happy, which is kind of weird. I suppose the reason may be that he finally received help from other people from outside of the well as I can see a rope has been thrown into the well in an attempt to rescue him, or that he is merely playing a game, say hide-and-seek, with his mates. Either way, he is now not scared or panic at all.

A cartoon character is standing beside the door of a concrete house. He has short black hair and is extremely skinny. His appearance is quite like a human. To be more specific, he has blue skin and a sharp nose, and he has a rather large earlobe in which there is a yellow circle with a black spot in the centre. Based on the observation, I guess he is probably an alien comes from another world outside the earth. He is carrying a green square handbag on one hand while holding a mobile phone on the other. And he is also leading a big white bird whose neck is tied up with a string. Inside the house, there is a normal-looking adult man sitting on the couch.
