Type the missing letters to complete the text below

Astronomy is one of the oldest sciences. Ancient people used the positions of the stars to navigate, and to find when was the best time to plant crops. Astronomy is very similar to astrophysics. A related subject, cosmology, is concerned with studying the Universe as a whole, and the way the universe changed over time. Astronomy is not the same as astrology, the belief that motion of the stars and the planets may affect human lives.

This is a photo of an escalator in a large shopping mall. Three people are riding the escalator, two of them are going up to the next floor while the other one is heading down.

In the top left of the picture, there is a large bike shop with a lot of bikes in the window for shoppers to look at, and in the bottom right, there's a young man in a white shirt leaning on the banister and looking down to the floor beneath him.

It looks like everyone in the photo is wearing summer clothes, so I can guess that this photo was either taken in spring or summer.

Speak for at least 30 seconds about the question below

Describe a person who has done a lot of work to help people.

Who is this person?

What has he/she done to help people?

ANSWER

Speak for at least 30 seconds about the question below

Sample answer

A lot of my friends think that the world is full of selfish people who don't care about anyone except themselves, but I couldn't agree less with this. I've met so many extraordinarily kind and generous people in my life. For this question, I would like to talk about one person who I know well. His name is Mr. Dennis.

Mr. Dennis was my high-school math teacher, and he taught at the local high school in my town for over 20 years. He was not only the greatest teacher I ever had but also has a heart of gold. Firstly, as a math teacher, he made learning fun and explained math in an incredibly simple and practical way. He must have spent hours and hours planning his lesson as they went well beyond what a normal teacher does in a lesson. On top of that, he was the only teacher at my school that organized extra-curriculum courses and activities. If I remember correctly, he was the soccer coach and the after-school librarian. He always went beyond what was required in order to help and assist all the students at the school, and everyone loved him for that.

Speak the answer to the question you hear

Question: Describe an interesting conversation you had with someone you did not know.

Speak the answer to the question you hear

A few years ago, I met a man named Chris at a youth hostel while traveling in Tokyo. We had an interesting conversation because I had never met another person who thought exactly the same as I do about so many things.

We were chatting for more than an hour on all sorts of topics like soccer, movies, economics, and of course our own lives. After talking for a while we found out that we had so much in common. We were both born in the same year, had a degree in the same major, studied abroad in Australia for a semester, and have the same career ambitions. It was truly remarkable!

Even though we live in different countries, we've kept in touch frequently and we try to meet up at least once a year.

Respond to the question in at least 50 words

Many people think that zoos are cruel.
Do you agree or disagree?

www.detready.com

NEXT

Respond to the question in at least 50 words

Sample answer

Many believe that zoos are cruelly exploitative while others argue they protect endangered animals. I agree with the former. Firstly, even though some species are under threat, there are lots of animals at zoos that are not. While it may be fun and educational to see them, animals are not meant to be caged, and their distress can often be seen in many ways. Furthermore, if the prime reason for having zoos is to protect animals, this could be done in other environments such as wildlife parks where the animals can live more naturally. For these reasons, I agree that zoos are cruel and should be shut down.
